Srinagar (drive) – Aharbal (campsite)

Our first campsite will be at Aharbal Water Falls which is often known as the Niagara Falls of Kashmir. The stunning Kausar Nag Lake (13,500 feet above sea level), which is located deep among the pine and fir forests, is where the water's source resides. The trekker is energised by the abundance of wildlife, natural flowers, and enormous alpine trees along the route. Aharbal, which is renowned for its beautiful splendour, is a popular destination for picnic for the villagers and schoolchildren that swarm the area during hot spells in plain areas.

Aharbal (trek) – Kongwattan (campsite)

Halfway through the two-day hike to the high altitude Kausar Nag lake are the picturesque Kongwattan Meadows. The meadow, which is completely encircled by a lush canopy of alpine trees, is a serene and tranquil setting that is primarily populated by cattle herders in the summer. The Veshav river is a great place to go fishing because the Fisheries department added trout fish into it. It only requires a fishing licence, which can be purchased at the authorised Fisheries department in Aharbal.

Kongwattan – Mahinag (campsite)

Near Mahinag and Kongwattan, shepards working on their routine activities (grazing their animals and gathering firewood) can be seen. A tall mountain peak that has a steep rise and requires a lot of effort must be climbed after leaving Mahinag, which is situated at the base of large mountains, in order to see Kausarnag.

Mahinag – Kousarnag Lake (campsite)

Mahinag Valley, which has several tiny ponds, and cross 2 to 5 glaciers en route. From Mahinag, there is a difficult ascent to the lake. Leave early to walk for the day to Kausar Nag Lake. The Lake can be reached in one day from Kongwattan Base Camp, making it a popular hiking location in a high-altitude meadow. It is well known for its stunning natural surroundings, which include gorgeous valleys, serene lakes, and cascading rivers as well as a large diversity of animals and plants. Spend the night in Kausar Nag.
