Jammu & Kashmir is also famously known as an “angler’s paradise” where its rivers and streams are filled with trout, both brown and rainbow

The image shows two brown trout fish hanging vertically from a thin wooden stick. The fish are positioned one above the other, with their heads pointing upwards. The fish in the foreground is more prominent, showing its dark brown body with numerous small, reddish-orange spots and a lighter, yellowish-brown belly. The second fish is partially obscured behind it. The background is a soft-focus outdoor setting with green grass and scattered grey rocks, suggesting a natural fishing environment. At the top center, the text 'zabarwan adventures' is displayed in a white, sans-serif font, with 'zabarwan' in a larger size than 'adventures' below it.
